

How can I financially support our Foursquare global missions ministry?

Foursquare Missions International (FMI) continues to facilitate work on the mission field through the ministries of missionaries and national churches. There are two primary and much-needed ways to support FMI and aid in this endeavor by giving to the General Missions Fund and directly supporting missionaries and projects.

Your continued support is vital, so that together we can continue to reach the nations. We currently have over 90 missionaries serving on the field and FMI supports all of them in numerous ways. Even missionaries who completely raise their own support receive financial benefits from FMI in the form of training events, retreats, gifts, resources and bank/transfer fees. We also have 28 fully funded missionaries who receive full financial support for their ministry expenses. All of this is supported by your offerings to the General Missions Fund.

Many of our churches are supporting one or more of our missionaries; however, we ask that you continue giving to the General Mission Fund as well. We request that at least 50% of your missions offering be given to this fund. This allows us to continue supporting missionaries on the field and still allows support of a specific missionary/project.

Stewardship of every dollar is our top priority. You can be confident that every dollar of your gift will directly impact the mission field. Your investment in Foursquare global missions will have tremendous kingdom benefit.
